

Resolving a theorem query into a verified dependency path

A query is answered by a build receipt, not a reading list. Backward archaeology finds the load-bearing imports; forward verification rebuilds only what is missing.

Two invariants: the reusable unit is the claim-level contract, not the paper — and the frontier is reported, never hidden.